May 2007	“Work-Life Balance, and Will Feng Shui Help?” Alex Lam, VP Global Learning, CoreNet Global Asia A recent survey by UK Work Life Balance Centre reported that tired and worn out workers are making mistakes that cost money, compromise safety and even put lives at risk. The world around us moves faster than ever before. We strain to be more efficient, to cram more into each minute, each hour, and each day. Living on the edge of exhaustion, we are constantly reminded by our bodies and minds that the pace of life is spinning out of control. Alex examined the importance of work life balance and the causes of the imbalance, and the way to achieve the balance with Feng Shui.

June 2007	“Mobile and Flexible Ways of Working in Asia” MengChew Ching, Workplace Resource Manger, Nokia Mobile worker strategies are becoming commonplace in Asia. In one of the most competitive labour markets in the world, workers expect flexibility. The presentation answered questions such as: how have we conquered the challenges – density, noise, privacy – associated with implementing these strategies in the context of the Asian business environment? What is working? What needs to be re-invented? What’s next?	Tour Event to Shanghai World Financial Center A tour of the SWFC Information Center where participants were introduced to the whole project with a video, model, concluding with a bird's view of the project site
